

PATH JOURNEYS

October 29–November 4, 2017

India

Innovation can change the world

Come see what it takes—in a vibrant hub of history, creativity, and global health.

 PATH

JOIN PATH FOR AN UNFORGETTABLE VISIT TO AN EXTRAORDINARY NATION:

India.

Where crisp, snowy mountains give way to bright markets overflowing with lush produce, the chatter of vendors, and the irresistible draw of fresh spices. Busy tuk tuks, fringes swaying, jostle in the afternoon heat. A wealth of cuisine, from spicy snacks to soft, sugar-brushed treats, intrigue the senses.

And entering the cool air of a temple brings you face-to-face with thousands of years of history, spirituality, and community.

No country delights, challenges, and transforms your worldview quite like India.

Home to an astounding 1.2 billion people, its exhilarating array of cultures and traditions, unparalleled natural beauty, and exploding economic growth offer an experience unlike any other.

For nearly 40 years, PATH has teamed up with India's leaders and communities to translate the nation's vast resources into better health for its women, children, and communities.

Now, we invite you to join our experts and partners to experience this work firsthand.

Travel with us for a week—and become part of four decades of lifesaving change.

A different kind of travel

Journeys travel is more than a tour. It is a unique opportunity to understand the world in a new way.

PATH's expert staff don't just work in the countries they serve: most were born there. Our partners include top scientists, government leaders, and celebrated experts. And our solutions are designed with insights from families and communities around the globe.

As our guest, you'll join us right where we work, gaining unprecedented access to the people and projects driving global health today.

“Journeys is an unforgettable experience. It creates a real link between your life—your beliefs, actions, and investments—and the lives and potential of women, children, and communities. Go! You will be glad you did.”

A different kind of traveler

Our small-group India trip (10 to 16 participants) is designed for people whose travel is guided by their curiosity and compassion. Like all Journeys excursions, our group will include executive-level leaders from PATH, local and global staff, and participants from a variety of backgrounds. What we'll share is a desire for a more authentic understanding of the people, health, and future of the places we visit.

Our itinerary

OCTOBER 29–NOVEMBER 4, 2017

Our seven-day, six-night trip will take us to Delhi, Agra, Mumbai, and Pune. Together, we'll meet with national leaders, local partners, and the extraordinary people we serve; explore India's spectacular culture and beauty; and learn how our staff and partners are harnessing innovative solutions to improve health and unlock potential for millions of people.

"I am a hands-on person. I need to feel like I am personally involved with people. Journeys is a great opportunity to see the positive impact PATH makes on improving life for so many. Traveling with PATH is a wonderful experience."

-Mary Carhart

Retired teacher and former Journeys traveler

See innovation in action

Our work in India is diverse and dynamic. To ensure that we see PATH's most exciting and current projects, we'll finalize our trip just a few months ahead—but here's a sample of what you can expect:

- With national leaders, local visionaries, and PATH staff, discuss India's tremendous progress to improve health—and what it will take to empower and protect even more women and children.
- Visit the Serum Institute of India, the world's largest manufacturer of vaccines, and learn how PATH, the Institute, and the World Health Organization worked together to launch a groundbreaking vaccine against deadly and debilitating meningitis A.
- See the “cold chain” at work, and learn how lunch-bag-sized coolers and other innovations can help temperature-sensitive vaccines stay cool, potentially saving lives.
- Meet the traditional healers working with PATH to stop tuberculosis in Mumbai's slums, and see how we're linking caregivers of all types to protect families.
- Learn how India's growing system of human milk banks is unlocking the power of breast milk to save the lives of India's most vulnerable infants and babies.

Experience India

- Delight in the gorgeous saris worn by women everywhere—even for everyday tasks. Then, find your own treasures in the bazaars and markets of Delhi and Mumbai, where luxurious textiles join fragrant spices, fresh produce, and intriguing artifacts for a unique shopping experience.
- Revel in India's extraordinary cuisine, and learn why it's often said that no two regional flavors are alike. Savor the warmth of a fresh paratha (flat bread), relax with a cup of rich chai, and thrill to the complex aromas of a spicy local curry. No matter your preference, India's diverse culinary offerings never fail to charm and surprise.
- Enjoy the textured landscape as generations have before: by train. On a short trip, you'll trundle past busy streets crowded with cars, cows, and people; ease through Delhi's sprawling outskirts; and gaze at miles of quiet countryside before arriving in Agra, home of the astounding Taj Mahal.
- Let your eyes adjust as you step into one of Mumbai's beautiful temples and mosques. Even before your first look, you'll hear the lilting tones of prayers and chants, inviting you to experience a moment of peace in a nation where Hinduism, Sikhism, Jainism, Christianity, and Islam have co-existed for generations.
- Look up—and up again—at the sweeping lines of the Taj Mahal, a global marvel and symbol of everlasting love. With plenty of time to stroll, reflect, and watch the changing light, you'll leave with lasting memories of one of India's most spectacular and moving landmarks.
